- Fee of 10% of sales paid to San Diego Botanic Garden
- We will provide one 10'x10' tent without sides, 6' tables, one extension cord and wifi.
- The Garden is locked at night, but we provide no additional security to the tents. We have limited space, but can accommodate overnight storage of plants and materials if you choose to leave them onsite, locked within the Conservatory. You would be responsible for moving items for sale at the end of day and set up the following morning. Our insurance does not cover your materials in the event of damage or theft on Garden property.
- Wagons will be provided to facilitate moving material during set-up and tear down, we have limited quantities, you may bring your own.
- Purchased plants will not be allowed inside the Conservatory (where the bromeliad exhibit is displayed). We will have signage indicating this, but you may choose to have a sold/hold zone for the few that shop before visiting the Conservatory. The Conservatory is the first thing guests encounter when entering, and the marketplace is the second, so this would likely be for a small number of guests.
